ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of a possible future arrangement for an industrial park near the Ironton Plant is pictured here. In all 375 acres were donated for the site.

Lift From Springville

Lands Adjoining Ironton Donated

BYU may receive 375 acres of land to develop an industrial park near the Ironton Plant. The agreement to donate the land is next to the Ironton Plant property the land was given last year.

The sale was voted unanimously by the Springville City Council on a condition that the combined property be annexed to the city of Springville so that the city will receive taxes from the anticipated factory.

The two pieces of property

Welcome Assembly Today

BYU greets freshmen and returning students today at its annual "Welcome Back" assembly at 10 a. m. in the Smith Oldhouse.

The Cougarettes, Flag Twirlers and the Cougar Band provide music and dancing for BYU's traditional version of the pep assembly. Dr. Harold Goodman, chairman of the Music Dept., will lead the music and direct the audience in singing "Fun" songs. New students will also get the chance to learn "Fun" songs, including "Rise and Shout." This will likely be the opportunity to learn these songs without embarrassment.

Latent state loyalties will seethe to the surface as students are divided by states and countries. The different groups will battle to show the others whose song or cheer is the best or at least the loudest. Tensions may rise as the traditional rivalry between form 761 acres at the junction of Interstate Freeway I-15 and U.S. Highway 91, about three miles south of Provo. The area is also served by a railroad line.

As well, the area is near the population center of Utah County. That means workers from all parts of the county could reach the park in minutes on the freeway.

BYU's role will be as owner and manager on the park and will receive income by leasing the land. The city will get property taxes.

California and Utah is expressed in song.

The anticipated overflow crowd will be accommodated in auditoriums and halls around campus.

Students can watch the happenings on television in the Joseph Smith Auditorium, the Concert Hall in the Harris Fine Arts Center and in the Variety Theater of the Wilkinson Center. Latecomers can also hear but not see the events in the Drama Theater, Recital Hall and Experimental Theater in the Harris Fine Arts Center and the Little Theater and cafeteria and lounge areas of the Wilkinson Center.

Students in these rooms will not, however, be allowed to participate in the assembly or even sit with their fellow state-members, and so those who want to participate should come early enough to get a seat in the Fieldhouse.

Springville agreed in the meeting to provide water, electricity, sewage and other services and police and fire protection.

The city and the school will cooperate in creating a master plan specifying the various types of uses: industrial, commercial and business. The area may also house apartments, motels, restaurants and a golf course.

The two will also combine efforts at setting standards of open space, screened-off parking, beautification of the grounds and building appearance so that the complex will indeed resemble a park.

The Ironton plant is presently being dismantled by the Learner Company of Oakland, who is scheduled to complete the project in 1971. Now it includes almost every imaginable adjunct of an iron plant: blast furnaces, coke ovens, pig machines, power stations, locomotive repair shops and a large volume of scrap machinery.

In contrast, the Springville property is now a pasture.

The agreement worked out by the city council states as the purpose of the park "to promote the social welfare of the State of Utah through the advancement of education, science, research, manufacturing, warehousing, distribution and other academic, commercial and industrial purposes.

The statement continued, "BYU believes that industry and business can and will be persuaded to locate in such a park because of the many advantages

New Procedure Begins Change Of Registration

Adding and dropping of classes begins tomorrow for those students stuck with unwanted classes or with other similar complaints.

Improvements have been made upon BYU's traditional system of re-juggling classes which students should note.

One may now add and drop for the first two weeks of school without a fee. After Friday, Oct. 3, a late fee of $5 will be charged for adding and dropping.

Students are to pick up add and drop cards from their advisers only. After filling out the card with the classes they wished changed, students should have their advisers sign the card.

One should have the teacher of the class being added sign the card first and then have the teacher of the class being dropped sign the card. The card is then taken to rooms 245 and 249 of the Wilkinson Center where the class cards are actually changed.

A "W" grade will be recorded now for all students who withdraw after the fifth week of classes, whether doing passing or failing work. Previously a "WE" grade was given with the "E" being placed on the student's record.

Students no longer need to obtain the signature of the dean of their college.

The new procedures have been approved in the hopes of improving change of registration at BYU.

BYU PHYCOLOGISTS ATTEMPT TO SAVE UTAH LAKE

Eastern Lake Shore Called 'Unsafe' For Public Use

"The eastern shoreline of Utah Lake from Lincoln Beach to Lehi is unsafe for water contact sports during the months of June, July, August and September," says Dr. David A. White, aquatic ecologist and assistant professor of zoology and entomology at Brigham Young University.

Dr. White is coordinator of the Utah Lake Research Group which is currently engaged in a three-year research study under the auspices of BYU's Center for Environmental Biology. The project should be completed in 1971.

According to Dr. White, Utah Lake has never been a cold, clear, deep lake—not in the last 10,000 years at least. The Indians who lived around the lake for centuries probably did little to change the lake's environments and its water quality.

All lakes slowly fill with sediment and become dry land but the natural process can be accelerated by the activities of man, and this is what is happening to Utah Lake.

Accelerated erosion, organic additions, drawdown, reclaiming of marshes, chemical addition, diversion of inflow waters, and the changing use of the drainage basin can all accelerate the filling of a lake. And during the past century this has been the fate of Utah Lake. "In fact, it has probably changed more in the past hundred years than in the previous ten thousand years," said Dr. White.

Dr. White and his associates have established 24 sites in different areas of the lake from which they take samples twice a

Cougars Test
Cyclone SquadBy Bob Oakley
Asst. Sports Editor

The Cats, tied for the lead in the Western Athletic Conference with Wyoming, travel to Ames, Iowa, this weekend to take on the Iowa State Cyclones in what could prove to be one of the toughest tests for the Cougars.

Iowa State last weekend took on perennial powerhouse Syracuse at Syracuse, and were edged by a score of 14-13. Losing to Syracuse on their home field happens often to visiting teams, but to lose by only a single point is evidence of a tough Iowa State team.

Head Coach Johnny Majors, in his second season, says, "This will be a better team than last year with more quality depth, more experience."

Coch Hudspeth after hearing his scouting report says that "They have a fast, quick and experienced team. They have a real exciting quarterback in Obert Tisdale. They have an option type of offense where they can run variations off every play which makes it especially tough on the defense."

The Cyclones bring in 15

sophomores who started against the Cats last year, and in all have 34 lettermen returning. Twenty-four of the returning players had starting assignments last year, so the Cyclones will present a well disciplined and experienced squad.

Last year in Provo the Cyclones edged the Cougars 28-20. But Coach Hudspeth is not throwing in the towel.

Y Soccer Schedules Berliners

By Jim Hunt
Universe Sports Writer

BYU's soccer squads open their league schedules Saturday, but the players' minds are on non-league competition Oct. 1.

International soccer makes its Provo debut that night when the Free University of Berlin competes the Cougars at 7:30 p.m. on Haws Field.

The German squad should provide a stiff challenge to the BYU team which finished last year with a 17-1-1 record.

Berlin boasts 35 wins in 45 games thus far this season, including 12 wins in 13 tries against American teams. The Cougars have lost only three starters from last year's team, and have been bolstered by the return to school of goalie Gert Jensen.

The missing starters are Victor Cave and Steve Camargo, now serving missions for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and Cret McTavish, who decided not to return to school.

Horst Mastar, last year's second-leading scorer, and Bill Forrest, BYU's all-time scoring leader, are back and will team with Robin Egan to form the nucleus of the offense. The outside right position is currently wide open.

DEFENSE

On defense, Ed Wolferters heads a group of returning veterans that also includes Carlos Merino, Nico Berrio, Al Burlington and Ralph Wolferters and Carlos Cordova, who have moved back from the offense.

Player-coach Dan Madsen gives the team another strong, experienced back.

The Cougars are returning to the Utah Soccer Association this year, where they will field three teams in three divisions. Each is considered a strong contender in its division.

The A team will play in a league with club teams Alemania A, Inca, United A, Hellas, Hollandia A, Vikings and the University of Utah A.

The B league includes Utah State's A team in addition to BYU B, and the C league will include USU B, Utah B and Weber State as well as BYU C, in addition to the club squads.

BYU A opens its season Saturday against Hollandia in Salt Lake City. After the Berlin game, the squad will head for Colorado Springs to play in the National Academy Invitational Tournament. Other schools participating include NCAA co-champion Michigan State and Denver University.

Writers, Secretaries Meet Wed.

An orientation meeting for students interested in writing sports during the year will be held tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the student publications office, 538 ELWC.

Any students may attend whether or not applications have previously been completed.

Openings are also available for part-time secretaries in the sport department. Further information may be obtained this week from 3-5 p.m. at the Sports Desk.

CHRIS JOHNSON AND Garth Peay, members of the BYU International Folk Dancers dressed in Ukrainian costumes, have performed the Ukrainian dance as part of the programs staged by the group. Auditions for Folk Dancers are continuing tomorrow to add 100 more dancers to the club.

Positions Open For 100 Dancers

Auditions will be tomorrow night for 100 additional members of International Folk Dancers, boosting the number of students in the club to 400. Men will audition at 7 p.m. and women at 8 p.m.

The additional dancers will make Folk Dancers the largest club on campus, according to the group's director, Gary Hopkinson. Auditions last week also added to the 200 returning dancers.

Guest instructors have been scheduled to teach the dancers new techniques. Maryika Klimeck, who also instructed last year, will teach the group a complete Polish set beginning Oct. 6. She was a member of the Polish Ballet for 15 years.

Iris Lyss, a BYU student, will teach a Ukrainian set to the dancers. Israeli and Mexican dance specialists also planned, according to Hopkinson.

"This will be the best ever," Hopkinson said. "For more kids, better kids, opportunities are just wild."

This summer the dancers performed for the conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and introduced dances to be used in the church's 1971 dance festival. They were the featured performers at the Salt Lake City Salt Palace in August at the World Conference Records.

Purse Lost

BYU Housing has requested that anyone finding a large, black, shoulder-strap purse contact the Housing Office.

While making a payment, BYU coed left the purse on a desk only to return and find it missing. An Indian student had just received an allowance from the school, and the purse contained money to be used for the year's expenses.

Any information that could help this student locate her purse should be brought to the Housing Office in the Administration Bldg.

Tickets Available For BYU Dramatics Opener

ickets are available at the ticket office by the Pardoe Drama Theater in the Harris FINE ARTS Center for "The Innocents," which will open tomorrow and continue through Oct. 4.

The 19th century adaption by Ham Archibald of Henry James' "The Turn of the Screw" will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Director of the production is Dr. Luel Woodbury, chairman of the BYU Speech and Debate Arts Dept.

The play has been described, according to Dr. Woodbury, as "a horry play that adults can admire and enjoy."

Also on the clauder for the dramatics arts at BYU is "Joan of Lorraine" slated Oct. 17 to Nov. 1. It is under the direction of Preston Gledhill.

"10," a musical adaption of Louis May Alcott's novel "Little Women," will be presented Dec. 4 through Dec. 19 under the direction of Max Goughly. The practice of having a musical at the Pardoe Drama Theater where "Jo" will be performed, was started last year with "The Fantastics."

"The Imaginary Invalid," a farce about a hypochondriac who complains not only about imaginary ills but also about the astronomical amounts of his monthly apothecary bills, will be staged at the Pardoe Drama Theater Feb. 27 through March 14. The director is Charles Matten.

Preston Gledhill will direct a story of American family life, "I Remember Mama," March 26, 27, 30, 31, April 1 and 2. In 1956 it was produced and presented in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

The final production on the Pardoe stage will be "The Madwoman of Chailbot" by Jean Giraudoux, a study of the exodus of the wicked of the world into a bottomless pit prepared by a madwoman. By riding the world of the wicked, she returns joy, justice and love to the world. Directed by Harold I. Hansen, the play will be performed April 17 through May 2.

Season tickets to the drama productions are available at the BYU drama ticket office in the Harris Fine Arts Center. Show time, unless otherwise indicated, will be at 8:15 p.m., except Tuesdays and Sundays. Matinees will be at 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays.

The ticket office is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and at 7 p.m. on production nights. Tickets go on sale one week before opening of the plays. Admission is free with a BYU student activity card or $1.50 without a card.

Swimming Teachers Needed

Volunteers are needed to teach swimming to mentally retarded and physically handicapped children beginning next week.

Volunteers do not need to be expert swimming instructors or good swimmers. It is only necessary that they have a desire to devote a few hours each week to helping the children. The swimming classes will be each Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a.m.

The program, which is in its fifth year, enrolls approximately 15 children from Utah Valley State Training Center, Utah State Training School at American Fork and various other special education groups.

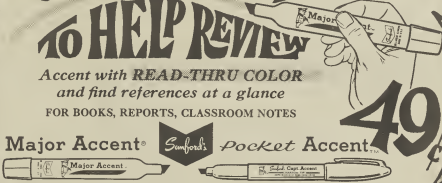

Students interested in helping should contact Boyd E. Blide in room 116 of the Richards Building.

week during the summer months and twice a month in the winter. Dr. White says that much of the contamination along the eastern shoreline is due to the runoff of agricultural waste into the waterways which flow into the lake. One cow will produce as much waste as 17 human beings and in 1964 there were 64,000 cattle in the Utah Valley producing as much waste as a human population of more than one million.

In addition, some 4,000 pigs and 200,000 chickens add to the animal waste load of the Utah Lake drainage area. And, according to Dr. White, very few farmers make any provision to handle the disposal of animal waste except in the feedlot condition.

Although the sewage treatment plants have greatly reduced the municipal waste problem, there is still some pollution from this source particularly in the spring when the drains and sewers are overloaded and break down. Storm drains and sewage systems are interconnected in some areas and in other places the sewer pipes are connected to open field drains. A bloom of blue-green algae often appears where a polluted waterway enters the lake.

Two dances are scheduled Saturday to end Hi Week festivities. The Gents will have a contemporary dance at Wilkinson Center Ballroom 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. At the time in the East Gym of Fieldhouse the Soft Impres will perform for a convent dance.

Hi Week is under direction of the Social Office.

Orchestrations Auditions Scheduled

Trout for Orchestrations dance team will be tomorrow 4:15 p.m., 185 Richards Bldg.

Each year a member of Orchestrations is presented a scholarship to study during the summer, with provision that the dancer return to the group following year. This year's winner was the club's president.

At the auditions, students will be judged on their style, balance, grace, musical ability, creativity, and their ability to learn the dance combination.

television weatherman Bob Felti is joining the part-time NYU communications Dept. faculty to teach two communications classes radio and television advertising.

has operated his own writing agency in Salt Lake City for the past seven years. In Felti, who has a B.S. degree in Utah State University, was production supervisor with KSL-TV in Salt Lake before he went on-air weatherman in 1962. Three years later he moved KSL-TV in the same city.

During his years in office, Lopez Mateos gave Mexico a world status it had never known, playing host to a parade of heads of state and foreign ministers and conferring several times with U.S. Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

He was mentioned for the 1935 Nobel Peace Prize which went to the International Red Cross.

Illness struck in November 1966 when Lopez Mateos underwent an operation for a cranial aneurysm-dilation of blood vessels. He suffered a stroke May 30, 1967, and from then on wavered in and out of a coma, his body almost completely paralyzed.

Born May 26, 1910, in Atlixpan de Zaragoza, Lopez Mateos was one of five children of a dentist. In his youth he was an amateur boxer, soccer player and hiker. He once walked 700 miles from Mexico City to Guatemala City in 36 days.

who can pass ordinary journeyman's tests.

But officials of the 17 unions representing 3.5 million construction workers said they will fight attempts by the federal government and civil rights groups to impose racial quotas on them.

The convention of the AFL-CIO Construction and Buildings Trade Department adopted the policy after President C. J. Haggerty said the unions are making steady progress in opening more high paying jobs to minority groups.

"Despite this, we are continuously the target of bitter criticism," Haggerty said. "We are still charged with being hilly white or with practicing tokenism. We are plagued with threats such as the so-called Philadelphia plan. We are being harassed by so-called black coalitions."

Haggerty was referring to black militants who shut down construction projects in Pittsburgh and Chicago and to a Labor Department plan to require federal contractors in Philadelphia to hire more minority group workers.

The convention's resolution cited government figures that the percentage of minority group construction union apprentices has risen from about two per cent to 7.2 per cent in the past two years, including four per cent Negroes.
